

Kindergarten Week of May 14, 2018

Well, summer fever has arrived in Kindergarten, but we are trying our best to keep it under control, at least for 1 more week. 😊 This week is our “wrap-up” week, as I like to call it. We will be “wrapping-up” most of our curriculum and preparing for our end-of-the-year performance on Thursday night.

Please remember that we have dress rehearsal for the Music Performance on Tuesday May 15th at 9:00 a.m. Don't forget to pack a bagged lunch Tuesday for the dress rehearsal at Genesis Prep School.

All Library Books are due back to the Library this Tuesday. Please be sure if you have any books at home that you send those in with your child. On a similar note, next Wednesday, May 23rd, is the last day for students to take AR tests. Please be sure your child is prepared to take his/her last test on or before this date.

I will be sending home my list of suggested summer “homework” this week. I strongly urge you to try out some of the sites I have listed. The Book Adventure site is very similar to the AR Program and is a great way to encourage your child not only to read, but to build that comprehension. If you have any questions about this letter at all, please don't hesitate to ask me.

On the last day, we will be having our State Presentation beginning at 10 a.m. Following the presentation we will enjoy our Bye Bye Kinder Brunch and celebrating the summer birthdays. 😊 I hope you can join us!

Genesis Yearbooks are here and they will be on sale in the main office. We will have a yearbook signing day with the whole elementary campus on one of the days next week. I will be sure to let you know!

Don't forget to study for your final States and Science Test!
